The Franklin House, in Boston, at the corner of Harrison and Union streets, is to be destroyed. The land on which it stands has been taken by the city to widen the street. The windows of the house are already broken in, and the ball protruding from the corner of the house into the street, with Josiah Franklin upon it—the sign of that worthy soupboller—has disappeared from the place where it hung for more than a century and a half.

The bodies of two men have been discovered since Mr.
Thurston was carried away by the balloon at Adrian, Michigan. In both instances it was supposed they were those of the unfortunate aeronaut. Subsequent investigation proved, however, that these suppositions were incorrect. The body last discovered was found at Chatham, Canada West. It is now feared that the remains of Mr. rston will never be recovered.

The vintage which is now in active progress in most The vintage which is now in active progress in most parts of France is likely to prove one of the greatest abundance known for many years past. The grape discase appears to have been completely mastered, and the apprehensions of its ravages, especially in the Bordelais and Claret ditricts, have fortunately been without foundation. The accounts, too, from all parts of Italy, from Savoy, and from Lisbon, represent the vintage of 1958 "as most splendid." In Savoy, in particular, it is said that never within the memory of man have the vine-yards been so exuberant and prollic.

A Hoosier, desirous of being married, hurried to Cincinnati a few days since with the lady of his choice, but as the day was the Sabbath he was unable to procure the license for "love or money." Sadly disappointed, he resorted to spirituous liquors for comfort, and flually found himself an inmate of the watch-house. On being released in the morning he learned that the lady had gone home, and he left that city a wiser man.

his life, and thus remove him beyond their power. This is somewhat different from the story he told at the magistrate's office, where he signified his intention of taking the lives of all the Masons. This shows the wandering of his mind when conversing upon this subject. Among other singular stories, he relates an interview in December last with the President, whose protection he was anxious to gain. Before going to the White House he had ious to gain. Before going to the White House he had armed himself, and avows that it was his intention to have shot the President if he had not supposed he was kindly disposed towards him. In reply to the inquiry of what he would have done had the President told him he did not want to have anything to do with him, he replied emphatically that he "would have shot him." If he really had the interview, it will be seen at once that seems to act wholly regardless of consequences.

In reply to questions, he expresses regret that the un-fortunate man whom he shot should be suffering so severely, but at the same time says that he could not help it—that he was compelled to shoot some one in order to remove the spell which had been thrown around him. At another time he said he knew it was wrong, but he could not get out of it; and the last words he uttered on leaving the warden's room at the jail was that he desired visible in the Northwest (known as Donati's) is the same to kill a Mason, in order that they might be forced to which appeared in 1264 and again in 1556. Dr. George McCby, on being sworn, testified that Mr. Heiberger and himself were coming out of Masonic Hall about six o'clock on Thursday evening, when he heard the report of a pistol, and, on looking out into the street, he saw a man standing on the sidewalk with a pistol in his hand; the man fired a bullet, which the witness were a paragraph in some of the papers to the sidewalk with a pistol in his hand; the man fired a bullet, which the witness magined he felt graze his pantaloons and pass between his legs; at this time the prisoner stood near the curbstone. From the fellowing James W Wittmere, Illinois

DEAR SIR : I have received a letter from a number of the plasterers employed upon the Capitol extension requesting that the wages of all those receiving not more than two dollars a day shall be advanced to two dollars and a half per day from 1st of October, and informing me that if the advance is not granted they will cease work. that if the advance is not granted they will cease work.

I have caused inquiry to be made, and have ascertained that the wages now and for some time past paid at the Capitol are fully equal to those paid by private employers in this city, and from 25 cents to 37½ cents per day higher than paid in Philadelphia and New York. I lately sent you to New York in order to procure more mechanics capable of doing the finer work at the Capitol, not finding a sufficient number of skilful hands here unemployed.

You found, I understand, no difficulty in procuring as many as were needed, willing to come here and work till the end of the season, at the rates heretofore paid on the Capitol extension : and you found a large number of plas-terers unable to obtain work in New York, and willing to come here for it, had they the means of paying their travelling expenses.

All these considerations lead me to believe that the

All these considerations lead me to believe that the wages paid are as high as in the present state of trade ought to be offered.

While I understand that every man has the right to carry his labor to the best market, and to demand for it the highest wages he can obtain, I do not think that when the full wages of the trade are being paid regularly, with steady work and proper treatment, workmen do right in endeavoring, by a combination, to take advantage of the supposed necessity of completing carries works. tage of the supposed necessity of completing certain work before the meeting of Congress, and thus to compel an officer of the government to pay them wages above the ruling rates of their trade, and, therefore, extravagant.

If any man can get elsewhere higher wages, steadier work, better treatment, he has only to ask for his pay, and leave this work, with the good wishes of his foreman and myself for his success.

When they combine to force a higher rate than I think myself justinable in paying, I have only to regret their loss of the wages of whatever time they may remain idle, and to endeavor to supply their places from among the hundreds of plasterers who would rejoice to find work

District Court of the United States for the Dis trict of Columbia.

The United States of America, Libeliants, es. Fifteen Boxes of Medoo Wine and Ten Baskets of Champagne Wine, respondents.

BE IT remembered that Philip Barton Key, esq., United States Autoracy for the District of Columbia, hat hexhibited a libel in the District court of the said Bistrict, alleging that on the 13th day of November, in the year 1857, filter boxes of Medoc wine and ten baskets of Champagne wine were imperied into the United States, to wit: into Georgetown, a poet in the District of Columbia, in a certain reseal or schooner, called the A. V. Bedell, whereof one E. H. Byder, was master; that the said fifteen boxes of Medoc wine and ten baskets of Champagne wine were not described or included in the manifest or manifests of the cargo of the said vessel or schooner as required by law; by which means the same has become forfeited to the United States, and seized by the collector of the port of Georgetown. All persons having any right, title, or interest in or to the said fifteen boxes of Medoc wine and ten baskets of Champagne wine are cited and admonshed to be and appear at the court-house, in the City Hall, in the city of Washington, on the first Monday in December next, to hear and abide by and perform all such judicial acts as are by law required to be done in the premises.
